

Canada's Recovery Capital Summit

Sponsorship Package

As we return to in-person events in a post COVID world we are inviting you to be a Partner of a National Recovery Capital Summit. Be part of the change needed to overcome addiction in Canada.

The advisory committee is collaborating with communities, service providers and governments across Canada to develop a summit that will engage stakeholders on dialogue pertaining to Recovery Oriented Systems of Care and building Recovery Capital to overcome Canada's addiction crisis.

Since 2017, the Recovery Capital Conference has seen over 7,000 health care professionals attend events from British Columbia to Nova Scotia. This year we are organizing a two day in -person summit in Calgary Alberta on October 6th and 7th with expert speakers, people with lived and living experience, and special guests.

The past conferences have been extremely successful at engaging people for systems changed and have also been successful for your organization to show support of Recovery Oriented Systems of Care. You will also be given great networking opportunities as a sponsor or exhibitor.

Target Audience

Healthcare professionals, people in recovery, people who use substances, the public, union representatives, occupational health leaders, and families will all be engaged in this campaign. Last Door has an outreach program that reaches urban and rural stakeholders to participate. Having a hybrid event will ensure the conference is accessible by all.

What is Recovery Capital

Recovery Capital is a focus on the development of social capital (such as healthy and stable relationships), material capital (such as finances and accommodation), human capital (mental and physical health, skills, and employment) and cultural capital (values, beliefs, and attitudes) Let us build recovery capital in individuals, workplaces, and communities to overcome addiction and mental health issues.

Why Partner with Us?

Last Door is a Canadian institution in the addiction recovery sector that organizes some of North America's largest recovery community engagement initiatives. Our success is based on being inclusive of all service providers. With our proven track record, we are amply qualified to do this as a trusted partner of yours. Last Door is a non-profit charity, and "Building Recovery Capital" is a Social Enterprise for Last Door. Our experience as a service provider of youth and adult bed-based addiction treatment services, seeing gaps in the system of care nationally is one of the reasons why building Recovery Capital became a project.

So many conferences addressing addiction health care are about addiction only, you will be investing in the solution, a conference about recovery and the evidence-based concept of recovery capital.
